

Ischia is known worldwide for its beautiful sea, its mild climate and especially for its thermal waters which have been used since ancient Greek and Roman times. In total there are 29 thermal springs dotted around the island.

The Bay of Citara, situated a little way down the coast from the main port of Ischia itself, is especially rich in thermal spas and provides the perfect surroundings for restoring both mind and body. The two swimming pools are the ideal spot for a day completely relaxed with a stunning view of the citara bay. For those who would like more privacy an elegant solarium overlooking the Epomeo mountain.
